To Whom It May Concern:

Our office serves as legal counsel to Caitlyn Martin. We have been advised by our client that you have been posting false and defamatory information about her on various websites.

It is not our intent or desire to limit the free exchange of truthful information. However, when individuals are defaming our client by publishing false statements, we must take all appropriate action to protect our client's reputation and livelihood. This is especially true when such statements take the form of rumors or innuendo being published on websites, which have a potentially limitless audience.

You should know that an individual who publishes defamatory statements they know to be false, or who publishes such statements with a reckless disregard for whether they are true or not, may be held liable for such defamation.

We are hereby demanding that you request that your prior postings be removed from all websites, and that you immediately cease and desist from publishing, posting, or otherwise disseminating any false information or statements concerning our client. If we learn that you have continued to do so after your receipt of this letter, we will have no choice but to file an appropriate legal action, seeking not only a Court order prohibiting your from engaging in such conduct, but also seeking compensatory damages and costs.

We trust that you understand and appreciate the seriousness of these matters. However, if you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact the undersigned.

Thank you,

Deron J. Andre
